Fushimi, Kyoto- A Place of Water and Sake

Smooth and mellow. What is the secret of the sake made in Fushimi? The simple answer is found in the underground water of Fushimi, specifically the balance of elements such as potassium and calcium in the medium-hard water which leads to perfect quality and composition for making sake. And sake brewers continuous dedication, expertise and sheer hard work as a result for making excellent sake, made Fushimi to this day.
